School Building Committee Named By Town Manager

SCHOOL COMMITTEE ANXIOUS TO MEET

Members of the School Committee are anxious to confer with the new School Building Committee, and hope to set up a meeting quickly.

Anxiety at the length of time needed to obtain plans for new school construction, in relation to the annual town meeting in March, was given as a reason for the hurry-up session.

Member William A. Doherty expressed doubt over getting an article ready for town meeting, because "The Building Committee will have to go over all the ground you've covered here".

A seven-member School Building Committee has been appointed by Town Manager Thomas E. Duff.

Included are two members of the Sanborn School Building Committee. They are Benjamin O. Chase, 77 Whittier st. and C. Lincoln Giles, 1 Old South Ln. Both are experienced through service on the previous committee, and both are concerned with construction and engineering.

Others named to the vital committee are:

Mrs. Dudley Fitts, 22 Hidden Field, a housewife and president of the Andover Consumers Co-Op.

Frederick A. Higgins, 44 Central st., a contractor and industrial developer, connected with Central Construction Co.

Robert B. McIntyre, 1 Carisbrooke st., a teacher in the Melrose high school and former chairman of the Andover School Committee.

William E. Moriarty, 19 Kenilworth st., a banker.

Walter N. Webster, 24 William st., businessman and civic leader.

The Committee will organize soon, according to Mr. Duff. He outlined the Building Committee's duties this way:

They will receive, and review, academic requirements furnished by the School Committee, and then

LITTLE TOO YOUNG to sign the petition, but cute and lively, is two-year-old Holly Donahoe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Donahoe, 1 William st. All-Out Signature Drive For Gov. Council Petition

Friday, Nov. 22, will be the day of an all-out drive to collect signatures for the initiative petition reducing the statutory powers of the Governor's Council.

Nov. 27 is the deadline for filing signatures with the local Registrars of Voters for certification.

Members of the League of Women Voters will be located in front of several downtown stores seeking signatures of those who may have been missed in their earlier door-to-door campaign.

The petition seeks to repeal powers given the Council by the legislature after the Council's inception as a part of our state constitution. This would return the Council to the powers originally intended for it by the constitution.

Most important among the statutory functions of the Council, which the petition would rescind, is the involvement of the Council in business conducted by the state government. Should the petition succeed, Council approval of contracts, leases, purchases, sales and other similar transactions, as well as over 900 appointments, would no longer be required.

The petition is sponsored by the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' Association, the Massachusetts Citizens Committee, and is a part of the state platforms of both the Republican and Democratic parties.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Andover will be standing by to give the League a helping hand in Friday's campaign.

Mrs. Jerald M. Cornwell is chairman of the committee.

Duff Content With Purchasing

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff is perfectly happy with municipal central purchasing procedures, and believes the town saves money by using them.

His comments and opinions were sought by the Townsman, in the wake of reports and critical comments from members of the Charter Study Committee.

Mr. Duff's over-all opinion, in cogent form, is: "It's just the way it should be".

He explained that purchasing authority has been delegated by

New Detection System At Bank

An unique new detection system utilizing automatic moving pictures of everyone patronizing Merrimack Valley National Bank was demonstrated to court officials late last week.

A Haverhill man, who unknownly had his picture taken when cashed a check, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny in the house of correction.

Peter Najarian, 46, 143 Gro st., Haverhill, admitted to a fine through his counsel and was given a suspended sentence of 60 days in the house of correction. He promised to make restitution the amount of $92.40.

Sgt. Robert Deyvermond told John J. Darcy that he talked Najarian, who admitted cashing the check while riding through town.

Bank officials were present the court with photographs of defendant, taken when he cashed the check.

They explained that an automatic movie camera sweeps across tellers' cages every 30 seconds thus photographing every customer. When a bad check detected, the film is run off and a teller makes an identification of the current case, a blow-up of defendant was easily recognized and led to his identification through other police departments.

The movie device is the first its kind to be installed north of New York City, according to bank officials.

ON SUB TENDER

Reginald C. Wood, torpedoed mate third class, USN, son of and Mrs. Bedford H. Wood, Highland ave., is serving aboard the submarine tender USS Holla which operates out of Charleston, S.C.

The Holland is presently participating in training exercises in the Caribbean and is scheduled to return Nov. 20.

An unique new detection system, utilizing automatic moving pictures of everyone patronizing the Merrimack Valley National Bank, was demonstrated to court officials late last week.

FINAL SETTLEMENT

The town stands to collect some percentage of $40,000, as a final settlement in the asphalt anti-trust cases.

To date, the town has received $4,460.15 in settlements from three firms. Special counsel, Atty. Philip M. Cronin, who represents most of the communities in the complicated case, has suggested settling the remaining claims on a 10 percent basis. This would result in Andover receiving some part of $40,000. The Selectmen have agreed to the settlement.

OUTSTANDING SOLDIER — Specialist, grade 5, Brian B. Vecchiola, 177 High Plain rd., is congratulated by his commanding officer, Col. Barnett Weinstein, after receiving an award as the outstanding soldier of the 331st General Hospital, Army Reserve, while on active duty at Fort Drum, N. Y. The award was made by Col. Charles F. What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman:
"Sometime ago, the voters placed in office five new selectmen. They, in turn, appointed a new town counsel and diligently sought a competent administrator to perform their office's administrative duties."

"Since that time, three of the original selectmen have been successful in retaining their office and all have campaigned on the catch phrase 'I stand for, and believe in, town manager government.'"

"Recently we have been confronted with the costly nonsense of both the selectmen and the school committee, with the town manager nonplussed in the middle, knowing not what their relationship is with respect to a new school building, though one was recently built under the charter plan."

"After four years, it is disconcerting, indeed, to be confronted with the admission of the chief administration office of the town that it does not yet know what the charter means. Moreover, no office can be relied upon that stands for a method, in this instance town manager government, yet does not know what the method is."

Ralph Sharpe was the auctioneer and was assisted by Mrs. Sharpe, Mrs. Robert Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Myers.

Red Cross Has Advice For Hunters

"The first aim of hunters should be to come home safely," the American Red Cross says.

Each year, guns and explosives cause around 2,300 deaths and innumerable injuries, which could be prevented if hunters and gun owners would remember and use two simple safety rules - care and common sense. The following are tips for safe gun handling: At all times: Treat every gun as if it were loaded. Avoid all horse-play with guns. Don't point one at anything you don't intend to shoot.

On the way: While travelling in cars, boats, or planes, make sure your guns are unloaded and keep them cased, wrapped or dismantled.

In the field: Hunt with a companion but insist he abide by the safety rules. Be sure your ammunition fits your gun. Double check frequently to make sure the safety is on. Keep your fingers from the trigger until you are ready to shoot. Don't handle a gun by its muzzle and don't use it as a prop, club or prod. Don't climb fences, run or jump while carrying a loaded gun. In rough terrain where your footing is precarious or in heavy underbrush, unload the gun or open its action.

If, despite all your precautions, someone is wounded while hunting, these are the first aid measures you should take:

Control the bleeding, protect the wound from contamination and give the victim care against shock. Even if the surface wound is small, there still may be extensive internal injuries, such as fractures and damage to blood vessels and nerves. Summon a physician as soon as possible, preferably without moving the victim.

Finally the report concludes: Just as your first aim as a hunter should be to come home safely, so should you aim to keep your gun safe. Make certain your gun is unloaded and store them in a case or cabinet, well up out of reach of children. Store ammunition in a separate, locked place.

After considerable debate, the Committee voted to award the contract anyway, and to check with town counsel and the Finance Committee on proper procedures. The boiler is needed now due to the breakdown of one of the two boilers in the school.

The Boston firm was the lowest of six bidders on the boiler, at $8,640.

Considerable time went into deciding whether or not to award the contract. Members were reminded that the FinCom has little or no money left in the reserve account, and that an emergency transfer may not be possible.

However, members expressed the opinion that an emergency exists, because the school has only one functioning boiler, and that one is as old as the one which broke down.

Other bidders on the boiler installation were:

J. B. Donnelly Inc., North Reading, $8,742; Bride Grimes and Co., Lawrence, $9,850; Henry Byers of Marblehead, $8,860; Coffey Corp., Lexington, $9,560; William Franklin Corp., Merrimack, $9,200.

Boston Firm Is Low Bidder

J. A. Marino Co. of Boston has been awarded a contract, subject to the usual checks, to install a boiler in the Shawshen School. The School Committee, however, doesn't know whether or not there will be money enough to pay the firm until 1964.

After considerable debate, the Committee voted to award the contract anyway, and to check with town counsel and the Finance Committee on proper procedures. The boiler is needed now due to the breakdown of one of the two boilers in the school.

The Boston firm was the lowest of six bidders on the boiler, at $8,641.

Considerable time went into deciding whether or not to award the contract. Members were reminded that the FinCom has little or no money left in the reserve account, and that an emergency transfer may not be possible.

However, members expressed the opinion that an emergency exists, because the school has only one functioning boiler, and that one is as old as the one which broke down.

Other bidders on the boiler installation were:

J. E. Donnelly Inc., North Reading, $8,742; Bride Grimes and Co., Lawrence, $9,850; Henry Byers of Marblehead, $8,860; Coffey Corp., Lexington, $9,560; William Franklin Corp., Merrimack, $9,200.

Mr. Duff emphasized that there is a full awareness that the School Committee must approve any plan, prior to its presentation to town meeting. IT'S A BOMBARDIER — This is the new sidewalk plow, purchased by the town last week. An adaptation of a similar machine used to haul logs out of Canadian forestry operations, the plow has the potential for speedier and more powerful snow clearance. The tractor has rubber tracks with steel cleats, and can travel at 30-35 miles an hour along clear surfaces, thus enabling the plow to reach its assigned area more quickly. Present plows travel at 5-6 m.p.h. Here, Highway Supt. Stanley Chlebowski, Finance Committee member Kenneth Holmes and Town Manager Duff inspect the plow, as it is driven into and over the stockpile of sand at the DPW yard on Lewis st. Operating the rig is Robert Carson, chairman of the Board of Public Works in Wayland, and salesman for a plow blade concern. (Staff Photo)

Special Meeting Is Possibility

The town's recodified by-laws may have to be presented, for voter acceptance, at a special town meeting next spring.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff warned the Selectmen Monday night that the revisions may be so complex as to require the extra time and study available through a special meeting.

He did not recommend the procedure - but explained that there is considerable thinking in this direction by members of the study committee and planning board.

The committee is prepared to report on the by-laws within a month or so, he noted.

The Selectmen seemed agreed that they would not wish to have the study extended for any great period. The committee has been working for several years on the project.
